

Manage Your Blog in OU Campus™

Blogging adds an authentic voice to your institution, creating a powerful connection with prospective and current students, parents, faculty, and alumni. Furthermore, blogging drives traffic to your website and can help you convert visitors into leads. OmniUpdate's OU Blogs integrates the power of blogging with OU Campus—the web content management system (CMS) you already know and love!

So now the same great functionality found in OU Campus can be used for all your blogging needs. OmniUpdate will help you create your blog subsites and templates according to your institution's specifications. Administrators can enforce a workflow and approval process that works best. Content from an existing blog can be migrated for a seamless transition. Blog features like comments, tags, and sharing buttons can easily be added. And, you'll get the most out of every post with tailored metadata, "featured" posts, content category designation, and RSS display feeds. Plus, analytics tracking will reveal everything you need to know about your blog visitors! Start sharing the good news about your college or university with OU Blogs integrated into your OU Campus CMS.

The screenshot displays the OmniUpdate Blog interface. At the top, there's a header with the site name and URL. The main content area features three blog posts. The first post, 'E-Expectations: 5 Facts to Help Market to College-Bound Students', is dated AUG 06 and includes a bar chart showing percentages for Facebook, YouTube, Instagram, Twitter, and LinkedIn. The second post, 'Analytics Gadgets: Data at Your Fingertips', is dated JUL 29 and includes a line graph titled 'Pageviews by Date'. The third post, 'Top Ten for Version 10', is dated JUL 24 and features a large 'TOP 10' graphic. A sidebar on the right contains sections for 'About the Blog', 'Categories', and 'Featured Posts'.
